LOOSE ENDS IN THE COGNITIVE STUDY
OF RELIGION AND CULTURE
BRNO (CZECH REPUBLIC)
6 – 7 November 2009

Workshop Programme

Friday November 6

9:00-10:00 Registration
10:00-10:15 Welcoming Address
11:15-11:30 Coffee Break
11:30-12:00 Jakub Cigán: „Convert’s Memories – What Can They Tell Us About Religious Conversion“
12:00-12:30 Michal Zebrowski: „Theological Correctness in Monolithic Roman-Catholic Society. The Case of Poland“
12:30-14:00 Lunch (at own expense)
14:00-14:30 Jan Krátký: „Pragmatic and Significative: Functional versus Symbolic Meanings in the Study of Modernistic Culture“
14:30-15:00 Adam Anczyk: „Understanding the Idea of Religion Among the Non-believers“
15:00-15:30 Konrad Talmont-Kaminski: „Superstitions, Ideologies, and Religions, Too“
15:30-16:00 Coffee Break
16:00-16:30 Slawomir Sztajer: „Religious Change and the Human Mind“
16:30-17:00 Silvie Kotherová: „Meditation Research with Its Back to the Wall“
17:00-17:30 Alexander Gomola: „Embodied Cognition as the Basis of Images of God in Feminist Theology“
18:30 – Dinner for all participants (provided)
Saturday November 7

10:30-11:00 Coffee Break

11:00-11:30 Aleš Chalupa: “Is Retrospective Analysis of Mental States Possible? The Case of the Delphic Oracle“

11:30-12:00 Vladimír Bahna: „The Myth and Ritual Theory and Conceptual Blending“

12:00-12:30 Alexandra Šurčová: “Minimal Counterintuitiveness Theory and Agency Concepts - The Evidential Needs”

12:30-14:00 Lunch (at own expense)

14:00-14:30 Radek Kundt: „Mind the Gap“

14:30-15:00 Eva Klocová: „Aren’t We Missing something? - What is Religiosity Really About?“

15:00-15:30 Tomáš Gál: “Universalism and Transversalism in Cognitive Science of Religion”